Agreements of Cooperation

The University of California Davis is interested in establishing relationships with international universities and research institutions to facilitate a wide variety of intellectual interactions and exchanges. As a result, UC Davis has entered into approximately 100 general and specific working agreements with international institutions, most of them at the initiative of individual faculty members.

Reciprocal Exchanges

The University of California (UC) hosts Reciprocity students from over 100 institutions in approximately 30 countries. If you are a registered student at one of UC's host universities, you may be eligible to participate. Reciprocal exchange students attend the University of California for up to one academic year on a no-fee-exchange, non-degree basis. Students on the Education Abroad Program (EAP) earn degrees at their home university though they are enrolled at a university abroad. UC is the major public research university in the state of California serving both undergraduates and graduates. There are ten campus locations: Berkeley, Davis, Irvine, Los Angeles, Merced, Riverside, Santa Barbara, Santa Cruz, San Diego and San Francisco (a graduate medical school).

Undergraduate and Graduate Reciprocity students are nominated by partner institutions under the provisions of specific contractual agreements. Contact your University's International or Study Abroad Office and ask for help in applying to the Education Abroad Program.

 Students who are not eligible to participate in the Exchange may enroll independently (at their own cost) in UC Summer Sessions or UC Extension courses (includes English as a Second Language courses).
