

Keio University Summer School at University of Washington

August 3 - 22, 2009

HUMAN SYSTEMS IN THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST BIOREGION

Objectives

- To know issues and challenges encountered in an urbanizing area
- To know pressures on natural resources in the Pacific Northwest
- To know the impact of urbanization on the environment

• Features

- First-hand experiences
- Wide range of academic and professional interests
- With plentiful natural resources

Program Framework

- Number of Students from APRU Partners: 5 (30 Keio)
- Site:

UW campus, off-campus facilities, dormitory

- Framework:

Lecture 31 hours

Project work 25 hours

Short field trip 21 hours

Weekend field trip

2 nights 3 days

- Short visits including lodgment:

1 Pack Forest Cabin

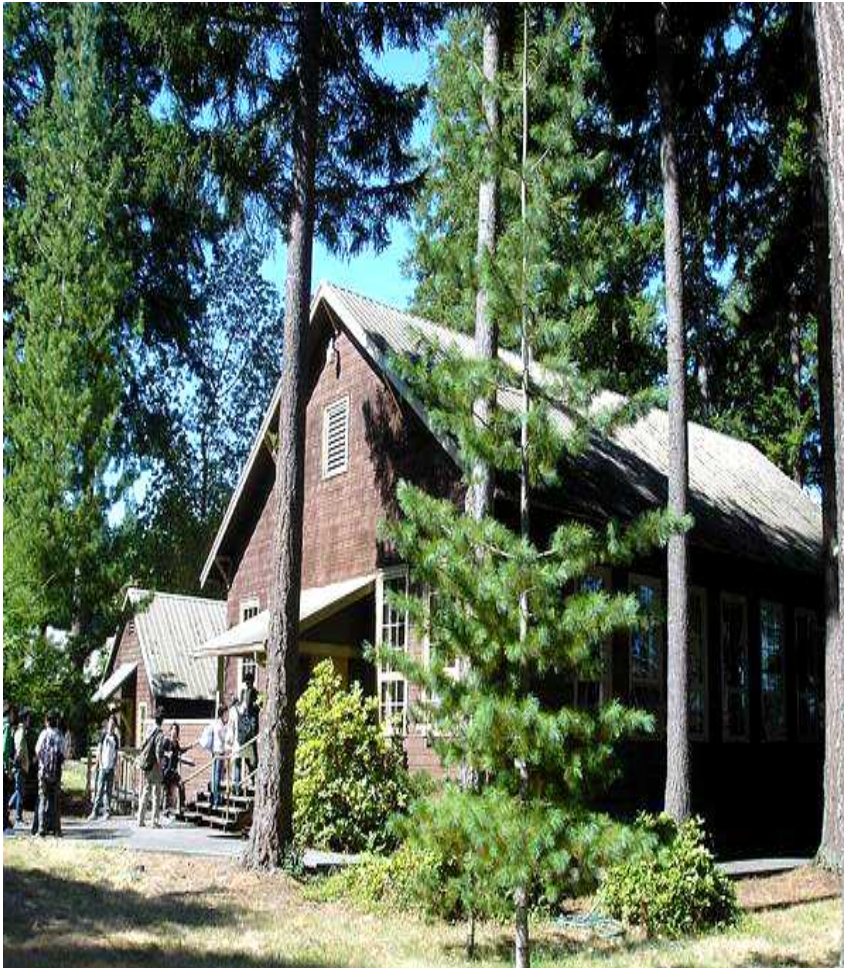

near Mt. Rainier National Park

2 Friday Harbor Lab

on San Juan Island

General Information

- Total Program Fees
(subject to change):
450,000Yen
- Included:
 - Program fee
 - Housing and meals
 - Costs for the two short visits
- Not included:
 - International airfare
 - Travel insurance cost
- Application deadline:
April 30, 2009

www.ic.keio.ac.jp/en/news/2009/news-uw.html

or

Search “Keio UW APRU 2009”